FILIP BURGELMAN THOMAS MORE UNIVERSITY, BELGIUM

Filip Burgelman is passionate about and has been working in education for 21 years. Originally trained in architecture, he gradually discovered that designing education became his most important motivation, to create things as a professional. His current main activities revolve around designing learning tracks on entrepreneurial competences, but also virtual mobility, lifelong learning, future employability skills and the Sustainable Development Goals.

This webinar will focus on how EntreComp does not approach "entrepreneurship" as merely starting a business, but as a transversal key competence that is important for everyone in all stages of life. As well as asking, how do you translate entrepreneurial competences into learning or development tracks and associated learning activities? Sharing practical experience of how he approaches this at various bachelor courses of Thomas More Mechelen.
